

Contents

Introduction	vii
1. Review	1
We start by making an honest assessment of our situation and our need to improve.
2. Reform	15
Once we have assessed where we need to improve, we must identify how to do so.
3. Resolve	33
Knowing what to do will not bring about any change unless we resolve to put those steps into effect.
4. Repeat	51
Getting started is a tough first step, but continued effort is needed lest we quit before seeing any real improvement.
5. Renew	71
The whole point of running for a higher purpose is to bring about a renewal of physical and spiritual wellness.
6. Relax	93
Physical exercise and spiritual exercises are both hard work, but effort must be balanced with rest to prevent burnout.
7. Reward	117
Achieving our physical and spiritual goals brings a great sense of personal satisfaction and reward.

8. Rejoice	131
The integration of a sound mind in a sound body leads to the ultimate goal of eternal happiness.
Epilogue	147