REBUILT WORKBOOK OFFERS EXERCISES, TOOLS TO HELP SET CHANGE IN MOTION

NOTRE DAME, Ind.—After publishing their groundbreaking book Rebuilt about the rebirth of the Church of the Nativity in Timonium, Maryland, in 2013, Rev. Michael White and Tom Corcoran were inundated with requests for help from other Catholic parishes about where to start. Subsequent books in the Rebuilt Parish series—Tools for Rebuilding, Rebuilding Youth Ministry, and Rebuilding Your Message—offer additional means to reach the end goals of making church matter and growing disciples by challenging the faithful and reaching the lost with the life-changing message of Jesus Christ.

In The Rebuilt Field Guide, the newest book in the Rebuilt Parish series, White and Corcoran guide leadership teams through ten essential steps for getting started with a church's reawakening with assessment, goal-setting exercises, and meeting templates that include prayer, scripture reflection, storytelling, and "rally cries" that become reminders of the change the team is striving toward.

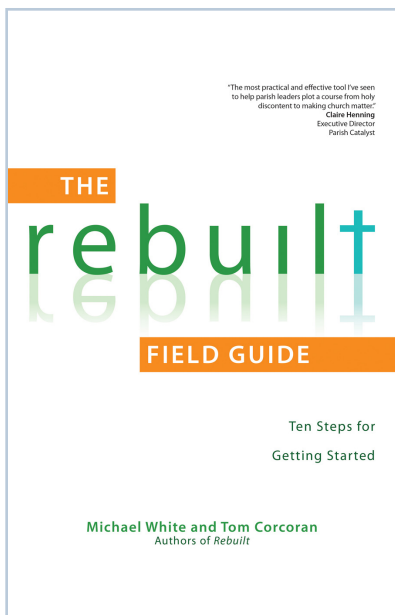

This workbook offers tools, exercises, and practical steps—adapted from those used at Church of the Nativity and which correlate to the chapters of Rebuilt—that will help your team set change in motion.

The Rebuilt Parish series of books together have sold more than 130,000 copies and have helped thousands of parishes reawaken worldwide.

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Rev. Michael White is a priest in the Archdiocese of Baltimore and pastor of Church of the Nativity in Timonium, Maryland. Tom Corcoran is his lay associate. The two are coauthors of Rebuilt, Tools for Rebuilding, and Rebuilding Your Message.

The bestselling Rebuilt Parish series has established White and Corcoran as sought-after speakers across the United States. They have also addressed diocesan gatherings in Austria, Australia, Canada, Ireland, and Poland. Rebuilt has been translated into several languages.
